Series Note

The Legal Research Series published by Carolina Academic Press includes an increasing number of titles from states around the country. The goal of each book is to provide law students, practitioners, paralegals, college students, laypeople, and librarians with the essential elements of legal research in each state. Unlike more bibliographic texts, the Legal Research Series books seek to explain concisely both the sources of state law research and the process for conducting legal research effectively.

Preface and Acknowledgments

This book fills a niche in the literature available for California state law research by explaining not just the sources of law but the process of conducting research using those sources. The book should be valuable to a wide range of audiences—from first-year students to seasoned veterans.

Writing the book was a collaborative effort, with each author contributing to each chapter. The chapters on cases and secondary sources we wrote in tandem. Hether Macfarlane took primary responsibility for chapters on constitutions, statutes, administrative law, and legislative history. Suzanne Rowe drafted chapters on research techniques, updating, research strategies, and citation. Portions of this book reflect her work on other titles in the Legal Research Series.

We have been fortunate to have the support of many people as we wrote this book. For substantive review of the text, we are grateful to Dragomir Cosanici (California citation), Dan Galpern (legislative history), and Harvey Rogers. For research, editing, and administrative assistance, we appreciate the work of Kelly Fahl, Jeff Hinman, Chad Marriott, Jason Poss, Greena Ng, Harvey Rogers, Ben Albers, and Donna Williamson.

We recognize West and LexisNexis for permission to reproduce portions of their books and online products. Please note that further reproduction is prohibited.
